about the interstate oil and gas compact commission

The Interstate Oil and Gas Compact Commission is a multi-state government agency that promotes the conservation and efficient recovery of our nation's oil and natural gas resources while protecting health, safety and the environment. The IOGCC consists of the governors of 38 states (30 members and eight associate states) that produce most of the oil and natural gas in the United States. Chartered by Congress in 1935, the organization is the oldest and largest interstate compact in the nation. The IOGCC assists states in balancing interests through sound regulatory practices. These interests include: maximizing domestic oil and natural gas production, minimizing the waste of irreplaceable natural resources, and protecting human and environmental health. The IOGCC also provides an effective forum for government, industry, environmentalists and others to share information and viewpoints, allowing members to take a proactive approach to emerging technologies and environmental issues.
